Determining One's Calling

How does one know whether he is called? As Spurgeon lectured to his students at The Pastors' College, he stated the following definitive signs for determining one's call to ministry.

1. An intense, all-absorbing desire for the work. There is an overwhelming passion for the ministry that motivates the leader to pursue it.
2. Aptness to teach and some measure of the other qualities needful for a public instructor. "A man must not consider that he is called to preach until he has proved that he can speak."¹⁴
3. He must see a measure of conversion-work going on under his efforts. Specifically related to the role of pastor, one must see evidence that one's ministry is resulting in the bringing of unsaved persons to Christ.
4. His preaching should be acceptable to the people of God. The people will provide sufficient testimony as to his "gifts, knowledge, and utterance."¹⁵
